The Pines Launches Website!

During the recent summer months of 2010, The Pines agreed to launch a Web site provided by UNLP ~ Universal 'Website Services'. Yes, we have a new, eye-catching, user-friendly and easy-to-navigate website! There is no restrictive registration required to access the site. The web address (URL) is: <http://thepinesca.org>.

Our new website has been under construction during September and October while the Association determined site content, links, and related information important to the owners and residents of The Pines. Within our new website you will find many features and links to resources like association documents, forms and a listing of managers, board members and staff. In addition, there is an informative Home page for The Pines, a location map, beautiful photos of the community, contact information regarding management and the Association, and a Facilities page listing The Pines amenities.

Also you can access a web page to The Pines Classifieds, exclusive to The Pines.

The financials and meeting minutes of our annual owners meeting and board meetings are also available to view (restricted to homeowners only) ... register for the User name and Password at: <http://thepinesca.boatx.org/registration>.

Additionally, various links are displayed to the management office, government agencies, schools, weather, and real estate data plus much more.

And, we have a Calendar page and Activities page listing various community functions and information. Let us know what you think!

Did you know the community newsletter can be viewed online in full color at any time 24/7! Just click on this newsletter image to open the e-file. It's that simple!

Be sure to look at the Announcements page which can be accessed from the Home page. Handy and timely information is displayed and updated from time-to-time.

We hope you like our new eye-catching website, visit it often, and enjoy the use of this wonderful online medium of communication.
